Social Media in the Workplace Around the World

International Labor Law Blog on June 4, 2014

Social media around the world continues to evolve and so does the International Labor and Employment Group at Proskauer. For a third year, Proskauer and its global partners have conducted a survey of multinational businesses to learn how they are dealing with use of this new media in the workplace. Our third annual survey received... Continue Reading