

SEC Brings First Dodd-Frank Anti-Retaliation Case

Whistleblower Defense Blog on June 26, 2014

The SEC recently issued an Order against Paradigm Capital Management, Inc. (Paradigm), a registered investment adviser, and its principal for allegedly engaging in principal trades without effective client disclosure and consent, and for retaliating against an employee who reported such activity to the SEC. According to the SEC, this is the first enforcement action it... Continue Reading
