

NJ Supreme Court Considers Remittitur of Emotional Distress Award in Race Discrimination Case

Law and the Workplace Blog on February 3, 2015

The New Jersey Supreme Court has agreed to address whether a trial court erred in denying remittitur on a whopping $1.4 million award for emotional distress damages in a racial discrimination suit brought under the Law Against Discrimination... Continue

Reading