

Regulatory And Litigation Hot Topics For Private Funds In 2016

Corporate Defense and Disputes Blog on February 1, 2016

Private investment funds are likely to face increased regulatory scrutiny and litigation risk in 2016, not only based on the Securities and Exchange Commission's focus on the industry but also due to transparency and compliance initiatives of limited partners and other market developments. We have highlighted several areas that should be on the top of every private fund sponsor's list – and how to assess and manage the associated risks... Continue Reading
