

Planned Motion to Dismiss Insufficient to Extend Rule 26(f) Deadlines

New England IP Blog on June 14, 2017

In an ongoing patent infringement case involving patents for floor-mounted electrical outlet housings, a federal court in Connecticut recently denied a Joint Motion for a Discovery Dispute Conference, signaling the court's hesitation to delay the initiation of discovery pursuant to Rule 26(f) merely because a defendant represents that it intends to move to dismiss a plaintiff's claim...
