

Pre-Sale Use of Data Storage Trademark Not Enough to Secure Priority Rights

New England IP Blog on May 11, 2017

A Massachusetts federal court recently found multiple early uses of a sought-after trademark insufficient to confer priority of rights. The dispute concerned two technology companies, Nexsan and EMC, each seeking to use the UNITY mark in connection with their computer data storage technologies...