

HR Generalist's Threat to Bring in Union Not Protected, NLRB Rules

Labor Relations Update Blog on May 25, 2017

One of the most interesting things about labor relations is the unusual situations human resources professionals have to deal with on a day to day basis. If you are at a cocktail party with a human resources professional, ask them what the most unusual thing they've ever encountered on the job and chances are you'll hear something truly unique and interesting...
