

Update on FCC Privacy Rules

Privacy Law Blog on August 3, 2017

We previously reported on the FCC's 2016 Privacy Order, "Protecting the Privacy of Customers of Broadband and Other Telecommunications Services" impacting Internet service providers' data privacy practices and obligations and the corresponding timeline for compliance. Intervening events, however, have made the rules imposed by the 2016 Privacy Order moot. On June 26, 2017, the FCC adopted a new order providing guidance on reinstating the pre-2016 Privacy Order regulations... Continue Reading