The Firm: Even a challenging economic climate has failed to stop Proskauer Rose from enlarging its employment team. It continues to offer wide-ranging expertise in a cross-section of areas ranging from noncompetition agreements to employment litigation and workplace relations. A network of offices across the country and a longstanding reputation for quality has paid dividends by helping to clinch involvement in significant, big-ticket national cases. One notable highlight involved assisting Honeywell International in defending claims of age discrimination relating to the company's preinvention assignment agreements. Practitioners have also been on the front line of class actions brought in relation to employment disputes, and can tap into advice on immigration procedures where needed.

Sources Say: "The lawyers boast a tremendous client list and can be counted on to provide accurate, cost-effective guidance."

Key Individuals: "Smart, switched-on" Marvin Goldstein counsels on both employment litigation and potential workplace disputes, where he is highly valued for "dealing with pressing issues in an extremely efficient manner." Group head Lawrence Sandak, meanwhile, is perceived as an "excellent relationship builder" who understands employment litigation "absolutely inside out." As one interviewee notes, he is "hugely determined to accommodate all of our needs."
