May 2013

National Privacy & Data Security

Band 3

The Firm: Proskauer's respected privacy and data security practice is supported by the firm's wider corporate and litigation expertise. Clients are drawn from a wide range of sectors including telecommunications, financial services and media, while the firm's global footprint enables it to operate seamlessly with offices overseas.

Commercial Awareness: "They are very knowledgeable about the substantive law but also very aware of the commercial settings and the need to serve the specific client."

Client Service: "I would rate Proskauer extremely highly in terms of client service."

Key Individuals: Highly specialized practitioner Kristen Mathews is widely praised by market observers. Interviewees value her ability to "take the specific circumstances of an individual client and formulate a policy and statement that work both from the legal perspective and for the particular commercial situation."
