The Firm: This compact but effective group in DC handles numerous complex matters for some of the region's largest players. Bolstered by a close connection with the firm's vibrant New York office, the DC team has recently handled a considerable amount of work for key client New Enterprise Associates, including an investment in excess of $50 million into Nova Medical Centers. Another notable transaction saw the team advising Plateau Systems on its sale to SuccessFactors for over $311 million.

Sources Say: "They are top notch – they have a good practice in technology and on an international basis."

Key Individuals: Trevor Chaplick has worked on a series of transactions for major client New Enterprise Associates in recent times. These have included private equity investments into Indian companies, playing to Chaplick's particular strength in transactions involving Indian parties.
