Aisling Billington is an associate in the Litigation Department and a member of the International Arbitration Group. As a solicitor advocate, she advises on complex litigation, international arbitration and public international law matters in England and overseas. Aisling has worked on cases before arbitral tribunals, the English High Court, the English Court of Appeal and the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. She has experience of taking cases both to trial and appellate hearings and is also well-versed in securing advantageous settlements for her clients.

Aisling's cases have included disputes concerning joint ventures, post-M&A matters, company law, banking law, allegations of conspiracy, cartels, fraud, ESG issues, public international law and human rights law. Legal 500 has previously listed Aisling as a 'key lawyer' for banking litigation.

Aisling maintains an active pro bono practice which includes representing clients before English social security tribunals, and providing legal services to charities and NGOs on employment matters and human rights.
