Cameron Tepfer is an associate in the Litigation Department, where he focuses on complex commercial disputes. His practice spans antitrust, consumer class actions, toxic torts, white collar criminal defense, SEC and regulatory enforcement, and corporate internal investigations.

Prior to joining Proskauer, Cameron served as an Assistant U.S. Attorney in the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia for more than six years. As a federal prosecutor, he tried twenty-two cases to verdict including multiple complex conspiracy trials, Hobbs Act robberies, bank fraud, and homicide. He investigated and presented more than seventy-five cases to grand juries, including matters involving wire fraud, bank fraud, art crime, various violent crimes including homicides, and conspiracies tied to firearm trafficking, drug trafficking and related money laundering. As an AUSA, Cameron prepared hundreds of lay and expert witnesses for grand jury and trial testimony, conducted dozens of direct and cross-examinations, and summarized complex fact patterns in opening and closing statements. He also argued dozens of motions including suppression, Daubert, motions to dismiss, motions in limine, and various discovery motions.

Before his tenure at the U.S. Attorney's Office, Cameron worked as an associate at Morrison & Foerster, where his practice focused on complex commercial litigation and internal investigations. He also served as a law clerk to the Honorable Lashann Dearcy Hall of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of New York. Cameron earned his J.D. from New York University School of Law.
