Cary Robbins is a partner in the Private Client Services Department. Cary provides sophisticated estate and tax planning advice to individuals and families, with an emphasis on the multigenerational transfer of wealth. She works with clients from a variety of backgrounds, including real estate investors, entrepreneurs, business owners, private equity principals, and individuals with inherited wealth. She also routinely counsels clients on their charitable giving and assists clients with the formation and administration of private foundations to meet their charitable goals.

Cary has extensive experience advising individual and institutional fiduciaries in connection with the administration of complex trusts and estates. She also has experience representing fiduciaries in estate and trust litigation matters.

Cary is a past member of the Estate and Gift Taxation Committee at the New York City Bar Association and the Taxation Committee of the Trusts and Estates Law Section of the New York State Bar Association.
