David Lederkramer is a general commercial litigator with an emphasis on fiduciary, professional liability and securities disputes.

He has handled cases for JPMorgan, Morgan Stanley, Ernst & Young, PricewaterhouseCoopers, The New York Times, Bed Bath & Beyond, Autodesk, Mount Sinai Hospital, individuals of substantial means in trust and estates disputes, and many other clients. David has enjoyed a high rate of success. To take one example, during nearly a decade of defending a variety of cases for one client, there were zero adverse judgments and not so much as a penny paid in settlement.

David is the former chair of the Firm's fiduciary litigation practice, which has been named the best in the nation by U.S. News & World Report.

David is a director of BAR Vermont Risk Retention Association, Inc. which insures premier law firms.
