Hayden F. Bashinski earned his J.D. cum laude from the Cumberland School of Law, Samford University, where he was the Student Materials Editor for the Cumberland Law Review. Prior to attending law school, Hayden attended the University of Mississippi, and spent time studying abroad at the London School of Economics.

Hayden focuses his practice on labor and employment law matters. He has experience defending clients in matters pending before administrative personnel boards and agencies, the AAA, JAMS, FINRA, and state and federal courts, including single-plaintiff lawsuits and class and collective actions. In addition to his litigation practice, Hayden regularly advises clients regarding employee policies and personnel decisions. Hayden also assists clients in conducting workplace investigations related to discrimination, harassment, and retaliation.
