Edwin Chikukwa is an associate in the Litigation Department. He has experience working on commercial matters, including mass torts, white collar investigations, and entertainment law issues. Edwin earned his J.D. from the University of California, Los Angeles School of Law. While there, he served as president of the nation's top-ranked trial team and won five tournaments, including three national championships.

While at Proskauer, Edwin also completed a secondment at NBCUniversal. He worked on labor and entertainment matters affecting NBC. Before joining Proskauer, Edwin served as a Senate Fellow in the California Legislature. In that role, he staffed what was then the world's strongest consumer genetic testing legislation. Edwin remains active in the firm's pro bono matters and coaches the UCLA trial team.
