Lawrence Frank has over fifteen years' experience practicing patent law in the life sciences. He applies his scientific training in biochemistry and molecular biology to obtain patent protection for innovators in biotechnology, pharmaceuticals and related fields, and also to advise clients on patent noninfringement and invalidity and in due diligence. He also applies his knowledge and experience in support of litigation relating to biologics and Orange Book-listed drugs.

Prior to joining Proskauer, Mr. Frank practiced for over ten years at a well-known intellectual property law firm and later formed and ran his own patent law firm with several colleagues.
