Megan Childs is an associate in the Labor and Employment Law Department and a member of the Employment Litigation & Arbitration Group. At Proskauer, Megan focuses her practice on counseling clients on various employment matters, including discrimination and harassment issues, employment agreements, state and federal background check requirements, and employee terminations.

Megan earned her J.D., with honors, from the George Washington University Law School. While in law school, Megan was an associate on the George Washington Law Review and volunteered for GW Law's Family Law Clinic. She also received the Ogden W. Fields Labor Law Award, presented to the member of the graduating class demonstrating the highest overall proficiency in Labor Law.

Megan is also a graduate of Cornell University, graduating with a degree in Human Development and a minor in Law and Society. Prior to law school, she worked at Barclays as a Graduate Analyst for two years.
