Stacey Eilbaum is an associate in the Litigation Department. Her practice involves a variety of complex commercial litigation matters, including contract disputes, securities litigation, cross-border commercial disputes and domestic and international arbitration. Stacey has appeared in state and federal court and in proceedings before JAMS and the International Chamber of Commerce.

Stacey's recent representations include an international arbitration based in London under the ICC Rules concerning indemnity provisions in a personnel supply agreement and securities litigation in New York related to the multibillion-dollar Petrobras scandal in Brazil.

Prior to joining Proskauer, Stacey served as a law clerk to the Honorable Ronnie Abrams of the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York. At Cornell Law School, she was an articles editor for the Cornell Law Review, where she received the Herbert R. Reif Prize for skillful and lucid use of the English language in writing about the law for her Note, "The Dual Face of the American Jury: The AntiAuthoritarian and AntiMajoritarian Hero and Villain in American Law and Legal Scholarship", 98 Cornell L. Rev. 711 (2013).

Stacey is a contributor to Proskauer's Corporate Defense and Disputes and Minding Your Business blogs.
