Tim Mungovan is the Chair of Proskauer. He is also the immediate past chair of the Firm's Litigation Department.

His practice is focused on securities, commercial litigation, governance, and bankruptcy-related matters. He has a national reputation for advising sponsors of private investment funds (hedge, private equity, private credit and venture capital) in a wide variety of matters, including litigation, governance, securities, fiduciary obligations, and regulatory enforcement.

Chambers USA describes Tim as “an extraordinary lawyer who is a fierce and very talented litigator. He is extremely knowledgeable, responsive and client-oriented.”

Best Lawyers in America lauds Tim's experience, integrity, work ethic, communications and courtroom skills. Tim has been listed in the “Top 100 Lawyers” in Massachusetts, and Benchmark Litigation has continually recognized Tim as a Litigation Star in Massachusetts.

Over the last six years, Tim has been the lead litigator representing the Financial Oversight and Management Board for Puerto Rico in the historic restructuring of Puerto Rico's debts. The scale and complexity of this restructuring has resulted in one of the most active litigation dockets in the U.S. Almost every aspect of the litigation involved matters of first impression in part because the restructuring is governed by the Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act, which was enacted for Puerto Rico in 2016. The track record of success speaks for itself: in the more than 150 lawsuits filed, Tim and the Proskauer team have prevailed in almost 95% of the cases.

Tim is recognized nationally for his experience in private fund litigation and disputes, having focused on the industry for more than 25 years. As part of that focus, Tim created and is the lead editor of Proskauer's blog on Private Equity litigation, The Capital Commitment.

Matters

Investment Fund Disputes

- Financial Oversight and Management Board for Puerto Rico, in its own right and as debtors' representative, in litigation against various creditors including hedge funds, SPVs, and bond insurers related to the restructuring of the Commonwealth's $74 billion of bond debt and $50 billion of unfunded pension obligations (D.P.R.) Complex Commercial Litigation

- Global pharmaceutical company in dispute with licensee over the reacquisition of two separate drugs in Japan
- Global pharmaceutical company in connection with claims arising out of termination of joint development contract and license
- Successfully defended the constitutionality of PROMESA against a complaint brought by several Puerto Rico-based labor unions that raised complex, novel theories regarding Puerto Rico's political status. UECFSE v. United States, No. 19-2243 (1st Cir. April 16, 2021). The union plaintiffs alleged PROMESA violates numerous provisions of the U.S. Constitution, including the First, Fifth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Amendments, as well as various international accords. The Title III Court dismissed the complaint for lack of standing, holding that Plaintiffs had not alleged concrete and particularized injuries entitling them to the requested relief. The First Circuit affirmed, agreeing with the Board that the union plaintiffs raised only general grievances that were not sufficient to confer Article III standing
- Obtained a landmark Supreme Court victory on behalf of the Oversight Board, defending the constitutionality of PROMESA's mechanism for appointing its members. Several creditors—including a hedge fund, a bond insurer, and a local union—alleged that PROMESA's method for appointing the members of the Oversight Board violates the Constitution's Appointments Clause. In February 2019, the First Circuit ruled in the creditors' favor, holding the appointment of the Oversight Board's members was unconstitutional. After granting cert, the Supreme Court reversed, holding that the Appointments Clause does not apply to the appointment of the Oversight Board's members because they are not “officers of the United States.” This critical victory ensured that the Oversight Board is able to continue its important work

- Led litigation on Act 7, Puerto Rico statehood legislation, where the Oversight Board was invalidating legislature in September 2021 that would have prohibited the Board of going forward with the plan of adjustment. Court invalidated and allowed to proceed to confirmation hearing in November 2021
- In December 2021, argued act 53 legislation, a debt authorization law in Puerto Rico, had passed to replace Act 7 and enabled issuance of replacement bond as part of the plan of adjustment continued accrual of pension benefits of certain government employees pursuant to a defined benefit plan
- Defeated the preliminary injunction filed by the Puerto Rico House of Representatives to prevent the Governor of Puerto Rico to use public funds related to a vote over the political future of the county to become independent or a state
- In a landmark decision, obtained summary judgement for the Oversight Board on several of its claims, finding the Governor and Government had violated PROMESA including by enacting and implementing a law (Law 29) in violation of PROMESA. As a result, the District Court entered an order nullifying Law 29 retroactively
