William Fassuliotis is an associate in the Litigation Department and a member of Proskauer's Commercial Litigation and Commercial Real Estate Litigation Practice Groups. His practice encompasses a range of complex civil and commercial litigation matters. He has represented clients in both state and federal courts. Will has experience with various stages of litigation, including coordinating discovery, deposing witnesses, briefing and arguing dispositive motions, preparing witnesses, and preliminary injunction and temporary restraining hearings.

Will has an active pro bono practice, providing legal services to disabled veterans and working on immigration and asylum-related matters. For his work, the New York City Bar Justice Center's Veterans Assistance Project presented Will with their 2021 Outstanding Pro Bono Service Award. In addition, Will represented an immigrant detainee filing a habeas petition in federal court to a successful resolution, for which he received the Legal Aid Society's 2021 Pro Bono Publico Award. Will also served as court-appointed counsel to represent an indigent defendant facing multiple criminal contempt charges. Will also co-leads Proskauer's Moot Court team, where he coaches local high school students to learn appellate advocacy skills and compete against other New York City high schools.

Will received his law degree from the University of Virginia School of Law, where he was the Managing Editor for Business for the Journal of Law and Politics. Will also served as the treasurer for the UVA Law National Trial Advocacy Team and the Outdoors at Virginia Law club.
